EXPERTS IN COUNCIL

CITY ENGINEER TELLS OF ROAD CONGRESS IN SAN FRANCISCO

E. M. Lynch, Glendale's city engineer, recently spent a vacation in San Francisco, which all season has been the Mecca of scores of conventions of experts in every department of life and action. There were two attractions this month that any conscientious city engineer naturally wished to attend. One was the Pan-American road congress, the other the Engineering congress. These two conventions were naturally closely connected.

"Ten thousand civil, mining, mechanical, electrical, military and naval engineers from every state in the Union and from forty foreign nations were present at the International Engineering congress, and great number of these attended the road congress. There was so much said and done at both congresses that it would be impossible to tell the thousandth part of it.

"One thing stood out clear at the road congress. The experts present were all in favor of the construction of national highways that would be available for rapid transportation in time of war. This discussion provoked some strong opposition to the idea of war roads, but commonsense prevailed and the advocates of defense had the support of the great majority of members present.

"I had conversations with various leading experts of this state and of other states on the subject of good roads, and I found that they were all of the opinion that Southern California is in advance of all other parts of the state in this matter. Mr. Frickstadt, the eminent city engineer of Oakland, said we were two years ahead of the northern part of the state.

"It was estimated that the reports of the various committees and individuals on all phases of modern engineering would fill a dozen volumes. Civil engineering, electrical engineering, marine, mining and mechanical engineering, all had representatives, and all were interesting. France sent her most eminent authority on roads and highways, the man who has had charge of all the French roads during the war. So anxious was France to have a good man present that at the last moment they gave this expert twenty-four hours' notice to go to San Francisco. He had much to tell of the roads in France.

"Another international figure attracted attention. This was Colonel Goethals, the builder of the Panama canal. The session at which he spoke was crowded to the limit. He told of the difficulties encountered in constructing the canal and how they were overcome. His statement that the difficulties now being encountered in the slides that occasionally choke the canal would shortly be overcome was received with enthusiasm.

"Naturally I was deeply interested in the sessions at which municipal engineering was discussed, and I learned much from the experience of the eminent, practical men who have been doing the work of the cities all over the continent. The treatment of streets and roads, sewage, the laying out of cities—all were discussed to the great profit of those present.

"I met some of the greatest sanitary engineers of the country and was at dinner with the engineer of the state board of health and the state engineer. These men had many interesting things to tell of their work.

"While in San Francisco I met a great many Glendale people who found the fair a great attraction."

SCHOOL CLUB ORGANIZED

More than a score of patrons and mothers of the Acacia street school gathered at the close of the school hour Thursday afternoon, Sept. 30, and pleasantly surprised Miss Mae Cornwell and Gladys Hamilton, teachers of that school.

During the social hour it was suggested that an association be formed for the welfare of the children. This was voted on and carried, the name to be "The Mothers' Club of the Acacia Street School," the time of meeting to be the third Friday of each month. Officers were elected for the ensuing year, as follows:

President, Mrs. R. S. Todd; vice-president, Mrs. Edward Strong; secretary, Mrs. W. C. Wattles; treasurer, Miss Mae Cornwell.

Cake and tea were served, those assisting being Mrs. W. L. Baum, Mrs. C. H. Weilhe, Mrs. Edward Strong, Mrs. Herman Melrose and George Ballentyne. Every mother, full of school enthusiasm, left wishing the teachers a very prosperous year.

NOTES OF ART WORK

ART DEPARTMENT OF GLENDALE HIGH SCHOOL OFFERS SEVERAL NEW COURSES

In common with all the other departments of Glendale Union High school, the art department has made improvements in its courses and is able to offer special inducements to students desirous of making progress in higher work. This department offers several new courses for properly prepared students after consultation with the instructor:

First—What is known as "concrete pottery," a method of producing pottery and tiles in concrete with the use of permanent and interesting color. This method is new and has just been developed and perfected by the San Francisco Institute of Art, and now for the first time is to be given in some of the more prominent high schools of the state. It entirely eliminates the one great objection to regular pottery (a practically prohibitive one to a high school), the expense and uncertainty of firing. The course should prove especially attractive to the future home builder and home maker. It also presents opportunities for commercial use. The method permits of slip-painting, maiolica rendering, and all the methods used in clay pottery.

The number of students allowed to take the work is of necessity limited and is dependent upon their preparation and ability. The instructor, Miss Muller, requests that all students desiring to take the work now or in the near future consult with her as soon as possible. Open to both boys and girls, two periods, the last two in the day.

The other new course is really a combination of two different courses, process work and commercial art, which supplement each other. The course in process is a course of instruction in the different methods of drawing for reproduction, including the various ways of drawing in pen and ink, splatter, stipple, etc., also the technical use of line, wash and color for illustration purposes.

The work in commercial art—i. e., commercial design and freehand lettering—includes a study of lettering in all its forms, and its artistic and commercial uses. The problems will consist of designs for book construction, labels, posters, programs, monograms, illuminations, car cards and other problems for advertising purposes.

The work as outlined covers a two-year course (of double periods), such part to be given each year as the needs and preparation of the students make advisable. Both years need not be taken, but the second year's work is open only to those who have had the first.

The course is open to boys and girls with at least one year of High school freehand drawing.

Students who are not prepared now to take this work, but who contemplate taking it in the near future, should be sure to take their preliminary freehand drawing this year. Geometrical drawing is an advantage but not a prerequisite, as the necessary practice and instruction in that line are given in connection with the course.

Miss Muller requests all students who contemplate taking the work now or in the near future to consult with her.

The work in the design and the elementary arts and crafts offers new methods and new applications in the stenciling and block printing. Stained glass designing will be added and also new methods of obtaining stained glass effects.

In advanced craft work the department is prepared to offer work in "tooled leather," that is the tooling, modeling, staining and coloring of various leathers and the construction of various practical leather problems. Professional methods of finishing all problems will be employed. For further information consult the department.

A few words might here be said about present preparation for a course to be offered in the future. The department is ready to give, when the demand is made and the students have the necessary preparation, a course in interior decoration—i. e., the study of line, form and color as applied to house furnishings and interior decoration. The various period furnitures and furnishings will also be studied.

A year of freehand drawing and a year of design are the prerequisites. This course is particularly desirable and interesting to the domestic arts pupils, and those looking forward to taking it should plan their preliminary work now.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair to-night and Saturday; westerly winds.

STUDY BARD OF AVON

SHAKESPEAREANS OF TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB TO READ "ANTONY AND CLEOPATRA"

The Shakespeare section of the Glendale Tuesday Afternoon club will meet on Monday afternoon, Oct. 4, at 2 o'clock, at the residence of the chairman, Mrs. W. E. Evans, 113 Orange street.

This will be the first section of the Tuesday Afternoon club to resume work after the summer vacation. Last year the Shakespeare section met every first and third Monday of each month and the interest then inspired has not lagged, as is shown by an increased membership for the coming year.

Mrs. Evans has secured an able instructor for the section.

Mrs. Mazie Fullman Garrett of Hollywood, who is well known in Shakespearean work, will instruct the section along dramatic, historic and literary lines, beginning with the drama "Antony and Cleopatra."

Mrs. Garrett has spent 14 years earnestly studying the master dramatist. She was private secretary to the late Mrs. Galpin, and is a life member of the Galpin Shakespeare club and instructor for the Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon club of Glendale, the Cosmos club of Los Angeles and the Wednesday Morning club of Alhambra.

The course of study as outlined by Mrs. Garrett for the Glendale club is, first, the study of one intensely interesting drama. By the time the class has finished one of the best dramas they are then taken back to Shakespeare's very earliest works and his plays are taken up chronologically. The class can then appreciate the rapid advance in the quality of his style and construction.

To begin with his early plays sometimes gives a class the wrong impression of Shakespeare as a study. But it is very essential to read Shakespeare's historical plays in the order of the periods in which they were written. He has woven into his plays almost a complete history of England down to the time of Elizabeth. In fact, he wrote world history of the day in which he lived, for he alludes in one way or another to nearly every country known at that time.

On Monday afternoon Mrs. Garrett will talk informally on "The Roman and Egyptian Setting of the Play 'Antony and Cleopatra.'" Members of the section are requested to bring copies of this play.

The afternoon will be open to all club members and their friends, and at the conclusion of the program tea will be served by the hostess.

DISTRICT PRESIDENTS MEET

There was a large attendance at the luncheon and concert given by the Los Angeles district presidents of the women's clubs of the district on Thursday afternoon at South Pasadena. Among those who were present were Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, 106 Orange street; Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, president of the Glendale Tuesday Afternoon club, and Mrs. Harry B. Lynch, 216 Orange street, the newly appointed federation secretary, of the Glendale Tuesday Afternoon club.

Work for the coming year was outlined by several state officers and much interest was shown in this matter by those in attendance. A hearty reception was given Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles, who has been endorsed by the district as candidate for president for the next general council of the federation.

FOUND NOT GUILTY

JURY PROMPTLY EXONERATES J. T. MORGAN FROM DAMAGE CHARGE

Before Judge Whomes and a jury consisting of D. Francy, D. M. Devore, Daniel Hunchberger, C. A. Fromm, W. B. Murphy, George Butler, Hugh Cornwell, C. L. Cox and A. E. Hennion, T. J. Morgan, 1610 West Fifth street, was tried on a misdemeanor charge, which alleged that he had caused a wagon belonging to him to drive on the sidewalk on West Broadway near Central avenue, causing damage to a considerable extent.

Mr. Morgan was defended by Attorney R. W. Clapp of Los Angeles, Judge Whomes conducting the case for the people, examining the witnesses and instructing the jury. Mr. J. M. Bunker, building inspector of Glendale, having been sworn, testified that no permission had been granted Mr. Morgan to have his wagon drive across the sidewalk at the place mentioned.

It appeared that Mr. Morgan is building a house at the above mentioned spot, and that a driver in his employment had driven a heavy load of lumber across the sidewalk, with the result that damage to a considerable extent was done, the sidewalk having been cracked and pieces broken out of it. No attempt had been made to lay timbers for the wagon to drive over.

O. W. Tarr testified that Mr. Morgan had told him that he had told the driver to drive over the sidewalk.

T. J. Grinton testified that Mr. Morgan had given no orders to the driver to drive over the sidewalk.

Mr. T. J. Morgan then took the witness stand and distinctly testified that he had never given any instructions to the driver to drive over the walk. He also testified that he had never informed Mr. O. W. Tarr that he had given such orders.

In behalf of Mr. Morgan, Attorney Clapp argued that there was no evidence to connect him with the accident to the sidewalk. He had never given any orders to the driver; he was not present when the injury was done and had no cognizance of the matter in any way until brought into court as the principal in the case.

Judge Whomes then put the case in the hands of the jury, who retired in the custody of Officer Laurence. After a brief deliberation the jury returned and reported that they had found the defendant "not guilty." Judge Whomes then discharged Mr. Morgan.

Up-to-date business men understand the value of advertising. No really successful business ever attempts to get along without publicity of the right kind. If any business has what the public wants, advertising will bring the public to the doors of that firm. Witness the following letter:

CHINA BOYCOTTS JAPAN

It is almost inconceivable how much insult and injury China has had to endure at the hands of the nations. Picture to yourself an immense nation with a population of more than 400,000,000 being ordered about by a nation with only 54,000,000 people. Such is the pitiable spectacle China has exhibited to the world simply because she believed in peace and held the idea that if she let other nations alone they would let her alone.

It has been China's experience that the greater her wealth and the less her power of resistance, the greater has been her exploitation at the hands of the other nations. Her four hundred millions of people were as 400,000,000 jackrabbits in the hands of the military nations of the world. They were herded up, corralled and slaughtered at will. Their wealth was taken from them and their fine art products and priceless vases of vast antiquity now grace the palaces of Germany.

At last, however, it would seem as though the worm had turned. Weak and helpless to an extraordinary degree, China has now, under the regime of Yuan Shih Kai, the president and absolute ruler of the country, stiffened her back and bidden defiance to Japan. Some time ago China refused to accede to Japan's demands and the little island nation immediately sent her fleet out with sealed orders and had her ever-ready army embarked for sailing to China twenty-four hours after the final order came.

China gave in. What else could she do? If that Japanese army had ever landed in China it would have been as difficult to dislodge as were the original Tartars whom the Chinese called in to chase out the rebels. The Tartars chased out the rebels, but stayed themselves. Hence came the Chinese proverb, "It is a bad thing to call in tigers to chase out dogs."

In this case China was wise. There are other weapons at her command and with an able ruler to wield them it has been possible to checkmate Japan. Yuan Shih Kai, who recently imitated Julius Caesar in so far as thrice he has been offered a kingly crown, "which he did thrice refuse," organized a boycott against Japanese goods. That was hitting the subjects of the Emperor of Nippon in a very sore place. For years past they have been working to secure for themselves the trade of the Chinese empire, and all of a sudden to find that it is eluding their grasp is very mortifying. The Japanese traders have everything carefully planned to cut the ground beneath the feet of every other nation. They have been exercising their wonderful initiative skill in making false labels for goods of every kind; but the Chinese have been just as clever in detecting the frauds. They have contrived also to flood the country with goods, honestly sold as their own manufacture, only to find that the decree had gone forth and that the Chinese would have nothing to do with them.

Yuan Shih Kai is quite an astute ruler. He has shown his wisdom by refusing the empty honor of being called "emperor," and at the same time has grasped the real power of the country. His orders are obeyed everywhere. Of what use the most beautifully manufactured goods from Kobe, Tokyo or Osaka when the Chinese won't buy? Japan is finding that the Chinese boycott is so much of a reality that it has cost them already in one month $23,000,000. China is slow to wake up, but every time she turns over in her sleep something or somebody is shaken off the center of gravity.

JEWS IN RUSSIA ARE THINKING

In Russian Poland it is not a question of King Log or King Stork. It is a question of which one of the storks will devour least. For centuries the Jews in Russian Poland have suffered miseries untold. They have been hounded into what has been known as the Jewish Pale of Settlement; have been subjected to various indignities and cruelties and been persecuted with a fanatical hatred that is a modern instance of what that much-enduring race has suffered at the hands of so-called "Christians."

It is very convenient when religion and profit go hand in hand, when the right to plunder a rich section of a city is the reward of being orthodox. For ages past in Russia when the Christian has wanted money he has found an easy way to get it was to raise a cry of "Jewish ritual murder" and lead a band of burning enthusiasts into the Jewish quarter to plunder and kill.

Under such circumstances it is amazing how orthodox the veriest ruffian can become. The zeal for God that a band of orthodox plunderers can exhibit is astonishing, especially when that zeal gives them the privilege of breaking into the richest Jewish stores

Of course, under German rule the Jew has suffered disabilities as in Russia; but on the whole, especially of late years he has been better treated, though still laboring under stringent restrictions. The Jew in Poland is pondering this matter deeply and he ought to have the sympathy of the world. For centuries the Jew has been driven into the ghettos of Europe, taken away from the agricultural work which he understood so well and forced to labor in the cities at limited occupations. Little wonder he became the cleverest financier in the world. In anger at his cleverness and success in business the Christian has subjected him to inhuman persecutions. Making him ransom his teeth at a thousand dollars a tooth was a favorite method of the Middle Age barons in England; roasting him on a gridiron was a popular method in Germany, and burning the Jewish quarters and sacking the houses and stores and inflicting nameless outrages on the Jewish women was the method employed in Russia. That method has prevailed down to the present day and the Jew will probably hail any other method as a deliverance.

Meantime, Vilna, the ancient city of Jewish learning is in the hands of the Germans and in the struggle centering around that historical spot rich with the traditions of Talmudical lore the poor Jews are asking themselves wherein they are to benefit by the war. Whatever may happen, much of their ancient learning, stored in the brains of their scholars and in their manuscripts may perish. War is a sore foe of learning.

The Lawn Tennis club, which has been playing all summer on the grounds of the Congregational church has been dissolved and a new association has been formed.

Miss Edith Nichols, who spent the summer at Griffith park and Glendale with her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Nichols, 223 Adams street, has returned to her home in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Hugh Showalter, proprietor of Showalter's barber shop, returned last week from a trip to Iowa, where he was called on account of the death of his mother and a visit at Glenwood Springs, Colo., his old home.

Mrs. George E. Adams, 1450 Ivy street entertained a small party at luncheon Thursday at noon. The luncheon was served in three courses. Those present were: Mrs. George Fish, Mrs. M. J. Miner, Mrs. W. C. Alvord, Mrs. W. Schilling and Mrs. E. H. Willisford.

Miss Ethel Graham, 235 E. Third street, Mr. Williams and some other young people climbed the Verdugo mountains Thursday and spent a very pleasant day there viewing the magnificent stretch of country visible from the summit and enjoying a delightful picnic.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed M. Lee, 106 Cedar street are entertaining as their guests Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Baxter of Vancouver, B. C. Mr. and Mrs. Baxter have many friends in Glendale, who will be glad to hear of their arrival in the city and to know that they will be here for a short time.

Dr. H. R. Boyer, 1317 Hawthorne street, who along with Mrs. Boyer has been spending a week's vacation in San Francisco, returned last night and is back into the professional harness. Dr. Boyer says the exposition is a highly valuable educational institution and should be visited by all who have it in their power to go north.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Euard, tourists from Putnam, Ills., side-rode to call on Samuel Parker, who has known Mr. Euard's parents since 1860. Next day the trio went to Santa Monica to visit Mr. Parker's nephew, Rev. Leslie G. Parker, the minister and Mrs. Euard being cousins. Mr. Euard has been for many years a valuable agent of the Rock Island system at a station demanding very responsible service.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Diehm of Oak street returned Wednesday from a pleasant two days' outing at Monte Vista and Littlelands. Both Mr. and Mrs. Diehm are pedestrians of local note and greatly enjoy cross-country jaunts. They walked to Monte Vista Tuesday by way of Burbank and Roscoe, explored the big Tejunga canyon and returned by way of La Crescenta and Montrose Wednesday. Mr. Diehm is a salesman for the Sunset Telephone Co.

Mrs. Henry Monk of Plymouth, Ill., was a guest Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. David J. Graham, 235 East Third street. Mrs. Monk has spent a month in the northern part of the state. She went this morning to San Diego to visit the fair there. Mrs. Monk saw a great deal of the San Francisco exposition and is warm in praise of its many interesting features. After seeing San Diego she will return to her home in Illinois.

While a Methodist annual conference absorbs the attention of its members at the locality where the conference is held by exercises pertaining to conference interests, the ministers, before going away for "conference Sunday," provide for "pulpit supply" for that day. In this way the First church has been well provided for Sunday. Rev. Montgomery, who preaches at 11 a. m., is a minister well known to our people, able and orthodox, while John Sobieski is one of the best-known speakers in this country. Hear him at 7:30 p. m. on Sunday, Oct. 3, at the First M. E. church.

Mrs. A. W. Dow, 237 Orange street, returned home Thursday evening after a pleasant vacation in the northern part of the state. Mrs. Dow was accompanied on her journey by her brother, Mr. Arthur M. Dow, and his wife, and by her own daughter, Dorothy. Miss Dorothy returned home two weeks ago and Mr. Arthur M. Dow has gone back to New York city, where he is manager of the Walter M. Baker Cocoa company. The party spent some time at the delightful northern summer resort of Inverness, on Tomales bay, among the pine woods, in Marin county, 40 miles north of San Francisco. The party also spent a week at the exposition above, 1150. A. T. COWAN.

Mrs. Rose McGibbon, who was a resident of Glendale about three years ago, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Hewitt, Cole & Damerell block, Brand boulevard. Mrs. McGibbon is accompanied by her daughter, Lillian, and her son, Bradley.

Mr. George E. Adams, Mr. S. Frazer and the Rev. Dr. E. H. Willisford are delegates to the meeting of the Congregational Church Extension society meeting which convenes in the Church of the Messiah tonight. The Glendale church is in the Los Angeles district.

Miss Emma Adams and Miss Van Tyne Smith, teachers of the two Gleaners classes of the First Congregational church, are very busy working at the organization of the coming penny social. Already more than 1000 articles have been made and arrangements are in progress for the other features of the social. It is planned to have a penny cafeteria, picture show, sale of fancy work, fortune telling and a secondhand counter.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT

At the home of Harry Lyons, near Churdan, Iowa, the two oldest children at school, the third at a neighbor's for an errand, the father out on the farm and the mother busy with the dinner dishes, left the fourth child, a bright little boy, in the yard, unwatched for a few moments, and when found by the frantic mother he was dead, having fallen into the concrete stock water tank in the rear of the yard. The sad event touches Glendale, the mother being a beloved niece of Samuel Parker.

Salt Lake City, Utah, stands third in the United States in amount per capita expended on its public schools.

The tusks of the African elephant sometimes weigh as much as 100 pounds each, and reach a length of eight or nine feet.

MUSIC CLASSES

Mrs. Eva J. Cunningham, teacher of "The Dunning System of Improved Music Study for Beginners," will open classes Wednesday, Oct. 6, at 3 p. m. at 1414 Salem street, Glendale. The Dunning system is highly endorsed by Scharwenka, Gadisch, Leschelitsky, Busoni, Gabrilowitsch, De Pachmann, Hambourg, Carreno and other prominent musicians. Transposition, memorizing, sight reading, elementary harmony, technique, analysis and historical stories as taught by this method make the rudiments of music attractive and develop the musical side of child nature.

Mrs. Zay Rector Bevitt's "Teaching Piano by Harmony Diagrams" also taught.

Rabbit fur is said to be supplanting wool in felt hat making in Australia, where thirty-two factories are in operation. The fur is considered much superior to the finest Merino for this purpose, and millions of rabbit skins are used annually.

NORTH GLENDALE

Mrs. E. H. Tatum and children, Master Edward, jr., and Miss Mary Dean, of 1300 North Maryland avenue, spent Tuesday at Inglewood, where they were guests of Mrs. Tatum's mother, Mrs. W. P. Martin, who left Tuesday evening on the steamer Congress for San Francisco, where she will visit the exposition, and also will spend some time with her daughter in Berkeley.

Mrs. Annie Pierce of Los Angeles has rented the property located at 927 Fairview avenue and has taken possession.

Rev. Julius Soper of 1305 North Maryland avenue has gone to San Diego, where he will attend the M. E. conference in session there, and also will visit the exposition before his return.

Mrs. Oliver E. Wright of 1649 Ruth street entertained as her guest for the day Thursday Mrs. Walter Carlson of West Fifth street, Alhambra.

Rev. W. H. Walker will preach at the Casa Verdugo First M. E. church next Sunday evening, Oct. 3. His subject will be "How to Study the Bible."

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilder of Oxford motored to North Glendale the first of the week, when they enjoyed the pleasure of calling upon former friends and neighbors on Ruth street.

OCTOBER

(Harry M. Dean in Farm Journal) A-down the sun-kissed road she comes,
The brown October maid;
All conscious of her tempting lips,
And yet all unafeard.
Her eyes are bold—as bold as day,
Her trim brown arms are bare;
A sprig of sumach, idly caught,
Flames scarlet in her hair.
Her hands are filled with goldenrods,
Bold banners of the sun;
And thus she comes, a herald fair,
To say that summer's done.
Her russet robes are wound about
Her slender form, and she
Has all the charm of autumn days
And all their witchery.

MUFFLERS SMART THIS YEAR

Muffle up a little closer, even if these are dog days, Indian summer and all that. If you could be foxy in a white fox neckpiece on the Fourth of July, surely a little thing like a worsted muffler can't put you out of the running now. Prostrated victims of the hottest day of the season seeking the solace of a long cold draught pleasantly a-tinkle with cubes of ice in a smart hotel nearly swooned at the appearance of a chic young flapper in a Chinese tasseled hat swathed to the nose in a wide-fringed worsted muffler, red and white striped like an American flag.

Since then, though, the heat abateth not, mufflers increase mightily.

Such hectic-hued affairs they are, too, in glowing combinations of stripes and spots and splashes, while some are one color on one side and another color on the other. Solid-colored ones of bright purple are fringed in gold with a quaint gold embroidered monogram on one end. A temperamental flame-toned one has the reverse side in ash gray and a tigerish confection has black stripes on a tawny background.

There are all-silk ones and fiber silk ones, but the worsted ones have the real stamp of fashionable approval and some of these in variegated stripes of rainbow hue are decidedly reminiscent of Hi Holler. Indeed, the old-time farmer and rural characters would seem never to have been without his muffler as a first aid to chore-doing. The maid today is quite as tenacious of hers on Fifth avenue as a first aid to heartbreak.

Much originality and artistry are shown in the arrangement of these telling throat attachments. One maid with killing coquetry knots hers under her left pink ear, the ingenue wears hers tied behind like a doting mother ties a napkin around the neck of her offspring in lieu of a bib forgot. Yet another wraps hers jealously close about her chin, with just one long end given its freedom to float seductively behind her shapely back. Oh, there is as much art required in adjusting your muffler as there is in the perfect attainment.

What with the high engulfling collars, the all-swathing mufflers and the all-enveloping fur neckpieces, I fear me chinning will become a lost pastime. For chins will be more than receding this season—they will be absolutely retired from public gaze. Alas, the poor swain who yearns to espouse a damsel with the weak chin and plastic temperament of the clinging vine may discover to his consternation after marriage, when he first glimpses her chin unmfurred, that she has the firm and stable jaw structure of the advanced feminist.

(Special Service to Evening News) CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 1.—It is announced here today that the Dardanelles batteries sank a French torpedo boat which was assisting in the attacks on the Turkish lines. Even this incident has not relieved the apprehension of the Turks regarding the successes of the British in Mesopotamia.

TROPICO

The seating capacity of G. A. R. hall was taxed Thursday night by the large number of citizens of Tropico, Glendale and Eagle Rock who assembled to witness the initial performance of the minstrel show and vaudeville which was so creditably presented by N. P. Banks camp, Sons of Veterans. The show will be repeated this evening and it is estimated that the audience will be as large tonight as it was last night. The curtain rose promptly at 8:15 and the first part included the splendid minstrel show that was given at Huntington Beach in August by N. P. Banks camp, when an audience of 2500 people voted it the best program that was given during the ten days' encampment of the Southern California Veterans' association.

The minstrel show included Joseph V. Griffen and Noble Ripley, bones; John Stathem and Charles Allen, tambos; Merry Minstrels, Ed Shipman, Harry Shafer, Guy Pixley, De Los Jones and A. J. Van Wie. These comedians were simply one scream from beginning to end. Joseph V. Griffen, in "If You Don't Change Your Living That's the Way You'll Die"; Melvyn, the skillful juggler; Charles Allen, "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling"; Jno. Stathem, "A Little of Everything," and Noble Ripley in "Lucky Jim," each proved himself a comedian of unusual ability and cleverness. The second number included the oboe and consisted of three parts. Number one was W. J. Hibbert in unusual magic; number two, Mrs. Eustace Benton Moore, readings in dialect; number three, Foley and Orndorff, "We Rank With the Rankest." The afterpiece, "A Busy Day at Schmidt's," closed the evening's entertainment. The time was the present, the place Coyote Junction, and the scene Schmidt's eating house. Schmidt was well represented by A. J. Van Wie, whose impersonation of a German was most clever. Mrs. A. J. Van Wie, who is a most versatile artist, impersonated Schmidt's daughter and a Salvation lassie in a most creditable manner.

Charles Allen was the sheriff, one of the wild west sort; Edward Shipman and Harry Shafer were stranded actors, and acted the part so cleverly that one was almost persuaded that they were actually the "real thing." John Stathem, who is an artist in whatever role he performs, was truly the hungry but happy hobo.

Schmidt's waitress was none other than Miss Doris Dunbar, whose cabaret dancing made a hit. Joseph V. Griffen, who is the author of the skit, was most clever as a Mexican or bad man, and as usual, with Mr. Griffen taking a leading part the busy day at Schmidt's was all that could be desired.

Noble Ripley was an ideal station agent. Mrs. A. J. McAdams assisted as accompanist. W. J. Hibbert as an Indian portrayed with cleverness the agility and cunning traits of the red man.

The splendid program closed by all participants singing "Gee, But It's Good to See a Show From Your Home Town."

Mrs. L. C. Jenkins of Glendale avenue was one of the complimented guests who attended the twentieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bradbury at Redondo Beach Thursday. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Bradbury, as well as the table, at which covers were laid for twelve, was most elaborately decorated in fragrant pink carnations.

Germany's Kiel canal, which is just over sixty-one miles in length, is the second longest ship canal in the world. The longest is the Suez.
